'The Circle' Lot Like the Village

By KELLY SMITH
 WASHINGTON (AP) — On Embassy Row, near fashionable shops, exclusive clubs and a one-time temporary White House, the thrill-seekers beat bongos and deliver soap box sermons.

Here — in Washington's old society belt — are part-time students drinking beer on the grass, beatniks playing in a fountain, police patrols and junkies.

This is the Washington deleted from guidebooks. They call it "The Circle," little Greenwich Village.

Years ago, as a wealthy residential area, there were horse-drawn carriages, Sunday promenades, diplomats strolling under the trees, concerts and governesses in starched uniforms pushing baby carriages.

It was a happy, family place, a round park at one of the city's wagon-wheel intersections. It was the best address in town.

On Pont Circle they called it — "Washington's mystic circle of wealth and fashion" — the scene of fabulous dinner parties and midnight balls where presidents and congressmen mingled with princes, where beautiful women danced on marble floors and ate with gold forks.

Still a circle, still a park, still a thoroughfare — time has nonetheless wrought changes.

Recently a man was beaten there. A secretary was molested going home from work. An old woman's purse was grabbed. Fourteen persons were arrested in one night on narcotics charges.

But it's a different area in the daytime.

Lois Bird Johnson goes to a beauty shop on the circle. On another side is the limestone mansion — No. 15 Du Pont Circle — used by President Calvin Coolidge as a temporary White House. From the balcony of this residence Charles A. Lindbergh greeted throngs of well-wishers after his solo flight over the Atlantic in 1927.

No. 15 is now a private club. Next door is the Sulgrave Club, one of the most elite. It was here, while eating lunch on an April afternoon in 1945, that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt learned her husband was dead. The 10 streets flowing into Du Pont Circle were once crowded with elegant town houses, for the Billy Mitchells, Cordell Hulls, Jimmy Doolittles and their friends.

Now those houses are headquarters for the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Women's Democratic Club, art galleries, clinics, architects' offices, doctors' offices, research foundations and parking lots.

To get to most of them, to get to the embassies of Canada, Chile, Iraq, Argentina, Colombia, India, and Indonesia, one normally crosses the circle.

Mao Making a Mess of Modern China

By JOHN RODERICK
 TOKYO (AP) — The great cities of China and some of the lesser ones are being transformed outwardly by the iconoclastic "Red Guards." Under communism the cities already have lost much of their old flavor.

Peking, Shanghai, Canton — these were cities whose names conjured up images of gaiety and international intrigue, and revolutionary plotting. Since 1949, Mao Tse-tung has altered their look and their feel, knocking down old walls, erecting ugly, functional buildings, cleaning them up to within an inch of their former bourgeois lives.

Time was when the Chinese in their long, blue gowns rolled silently through the narrow, muddy hutongs and back lanes of Peking, reclining luxuriously in rickshaws pulled by half-naked coolies. The rickshaws and the coolies are gone, replaced by the bicycle, an occasional automobile, tricycle, pedicab and shank's mare.

Peking, capital of the world's most populous nation, is a political city. Its Mao-era buildings are new but dull. Apartment houses and stodgy government structures clash with the architecture of the ancient palaces and the secluded, tile-roofed houses of the past.

Bursting at the seams — the city's population has soared from two million before 1949 to nearly six million today. Peking is all bustle in the daytime, particularly these days as squads of Red Guards roam far and wide, changing street signs, pasting up millions of portraits of Mao, festooning the buildings with red-bannered slogans.

Until this year, the year of Mao's revolutionary purges, Peking's temples and old palaces were kept intact, painted and refurbished to impress foreign visitors with communism's respect for religion and ancient culture.

All this is changing under the adolescent blows of the Red Guards who have pillaged Buddhist, Taoist and Catholic centers, desecrated Buddhist treasures, defiled foreign cemeteries.

Never in Minors
 Ernie Banks, Dick Groat, Al Kaline, Sandy Koufax and Billy Odell moved into the major leagues of baseball without having spent one day in the minors.

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — What family hasn't dreamed of sailing its own ship to a life of adventure in far-off lands? The Artie Wayne family did, and we're dreaming stay-at-homes will be able to see the results on television.

Artie Wayne was a pop singer who enjoyed success in night clubs and recordings. His wife Vida was heiress to the Halliburton Oil fortune — adventurer Richard Halliburton was a relative. The Waynes had three teen-age children and were firmly anchored to the California life.

Then Wayne suffered a heart attack and his career went into limbo during his long convalescence. He and his wife underwent a reassessment of their values, and came up with the idea of buying a boat to tour the world.

Their choice was the Navy's minesweeper 288, built during the war for $2,300,000, but available as surplus for the bargain price of $41,000. The Waynes poured $200,000 into converting it for family living. It was also made into a floating movie studio with the notion of producing a television series to help pay for the trip.

And so on Columbus Day of 1961, the Via Vida — roughly, way of life — left Los Angeles Harbor with ship and movie crews, plus a clutch of teen-agers and a schoolteacher.

The Via Vida first headed for Japan, docking at islands seldom visited by non-Japanese. The log of the ship's voyage reads like anyone's dream of adventurous places: Formosa, Hong Kong, Thailand, Saigon, Manila, Zamboanga, Borneo, Singapore, Ceylon, Madagascar, Assumption Islands, Zanzibar, Kenya.

During all this time, the Waynes shot travelogues, amassing 400,000 feet of exposed film.

"But we found out there wasn't enough of a market for travelogues to pay for the ship's expenses," said Mrs. Wayne. "We had some negotiations with the television networks, but the fact is that they are more enthused about an idea if they originate it themselves."

The voyage was interrupted for a year while Mrs. Wayne recovered from an illness. Then the family, minus two children who went to college, returned to the Via Vida in Hong Kong and continued their travels.

"This time we decided to make adventure films, and the formula seems to work," said Mrs. Wayne. "We hire the best actors in every country — right now Artie's working in Manila. Twelve films have been shot so far, and they start on KTTV here this week. Later they'll be syndicated all over the country."

For refreshments snacks, coffee or cold drinks were served.

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

HOSTESS-CHECKING PARENTS

Dear Helen: Parent problems again. Mine always have to call up and check to see if the parties I go to are chaperoned. Of course they are, but this embarrasses me, not to speak of the host or hostess. How do you think they feel when a mother says, "I just wanted to see if you were home."

I don't mind so much when it's a girls' party but when a boy asks me, I feel lower than a swayed-back worm.

The kids I hang around with don't have wild parties. Shouldn't my parents learn to trust me? EMBARRASSED PARTY POOPER

Dear E.P.P.: They should and they will. Help them through the "dating daughter miseries" with some good-natured kidding, and don't blame parents too much for wanting to know you're safe. We're funny that way.

Note to parents: When your child plans a teen party, the thoughtful thing to do is contact mothers of invited guests and let them know it has your green light—and you'll be on hand to see the lights stay on.—H.

Dear Helen: It started two years ago when I got involved with a gang of girls who smoke, swear, drink, and steal, now my so-called friends have turned on me and last year things got so bad I had to carry a knife for protection.

There's a group of boys who call me names that would wake the dead. And the girls—well, I don't dare be alone, or go outside at night for fear of meeting up with their gang.

My parents are in their late 50's and even if I told them about this they wouldn't believe me. They don't think things like this can happen. Besides, they're too busy fighting with each other.

I want to live with some friends in another state and maybe start a new life. My parents are very close to these people but they don't want me to go.

I have no one to turn to, and girl goes out on a date, the guy wants to park, she doesn't. The guy snubs her at school and won't speak.

If you don't make-out on the first date, you've lost him. If you do, you've lost your reputation.

Don't boys ever want to date girls just to enjoy their company? I don't care about kissing a guy until I'm sure I like him well enough to kiss. How to others feel about this, both boys and girls?—SITTING HOME

Dear S.H.: Don't give up hope. There are four types of boys:

1. The Expecters, who insist on payment for their "invaluable time." Shun 'em!
2. The Imitators, who figure boys must make passes to prove they're men, but shake down to "manageable" quite easily. An Imitator is often relieved when a girl hands him a tactful "No," but if she storms and slaps his face—naturally she'll get snubbed next day. The fragile male ego has taken a beating.

3. The Shy Guys, who make girls wonder if they'll EVER be kissed. Mothers love 'em. So do most girls because they're a challenge.

4. The Basic Nice Guys, who know how girls like to be treated and don't get pushy because they respect a good reputation. These aren't as scared as you might think, S.H. Keep looking!—H.

Orioles Win First Game of Series

By MIKE RATHET
LOS ANGELES (AP) — No one's written a poem about Baltimore's bullpen brigade, but pitching coach Harry Brecheen throws a pretty clever line of blank verse around.

"We got 'em long and we got 'em short," Brecheen said. "And we got plenty of both."

It's just possible that the Baltimore bullpen brigade has been the one factor measured incorrectly by the experts who tabbed the Los Angeles Dodgers as favorites to win their second straight World Series.

Moe Drabowsky, a 31-year-old part-time stock broker who considered retiring before the season, came out of the Baltimore bullpen in the third inning Wednesday and completely shacked the Dodgers while breaking one Series strikeout record and tying another in Baltimore's 5-2 victory.

Ever since the Orioles have arrived in Los Angeles, Manager Hank Bauer and Brecheen have been pelted with questions suggesting the Orioles couldn't possibly win the Series because of their pitching.

All pointed to the fact that the entire Orioles' staff had completed only 23 games — to 27 for Dodger left-hander Sandy Koufax.

As game No. 1 started, Bauer dispatched one of the biggest bullpen crews in history down the right field line — sending every available pitcher to the bullpen with the exception of the starter, Dave McNally, and Jim Palmer, today's second game pitcher against the Dodgers' Koufax.

Bauer used it almost immediately, calling on Drabowsky in the third inning to protect a 4-1 lead built on consecutive first inning homers by the Robinson boys and Russ Snyder's key single in the second.

Drabowsky came on with the bases loaded and one out, struck out Wes Parker, walked Jim Gilliam to force in a run and then got John Roseboro to foul out.

That was it for the Dodgers. Drabowsky went on to strike out the next six batters in order and finished with 11 in all while allowing the Dodgers only a harmless seventh inning single by Willie Davis.

N. Dakota St. Best Small College Team

Montana State, a 55-6 winner over Fresno State last Saturday, has moved into the runner-up position behind North Dakota State in the weekly Associated Press small-college football poll.

Middle Tennessee State, Weber State and Tennessee State also gained ground in the rankings.

Montana State was named the top team on five ballots and accumulated 112 points on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second.

North Dakota slipped one place to third despite a 23-10 triumph over State College of Iowa, Sul Ross, a 16-13 victory over Southwest Texas, held the 4-4 spot.

Middle Tennessee State, tied for 10th a week ago, zoomed to fifth after defeating Western Kentucky 35-9.

San Diego State, Eastern Kentucky, Wittenberg, Weber State and Tennessee State round out the top 10 in that order. The latter three teams were unranked last week.

Eagles Rated Best AA Team in Arkansas

By LARRY DON WRIGHT

Hope Star Sports Editor

The Bobcats will run up against by far their roughest opposition of the season this Friday night when they travel to Crossett for a bout with the Eagles.

The Bobcats, victims of the mighty Malvern Leopards last Friday by 13-7, will have even more to handle this week in the likes of the state's number one Class AA team.

The Eagles, who reached the lofty heights by running past five straight opponents already this year without defeat, are coached by former Bobcat mentor, Coach John Pierce.

Coach Pierce, in his first year as head coach at Crossett after three years as assistant finds himself with one of the states largest and most talented teams.

In addition to being rated the number one AA team they are also the number five rated team in the state without consideration of classes.

The Cats have played two of Crossett's victims, Malvern and Arkadelphia, Hope downed Arkadelphia, 14-0, as compared to the Eagles 34-0 romp over the Badgers. Crossett beat Malvern 33-6.

In comparing performances against mutual opponents, therefore, it would appear that the Cats will have their hands full Friday night.

This year's Bobcats were still in junior high when Coach Pierce left Hope to move to Crossett, but most all of the Cats remember Pierce as a man with a winning reputation.

The game will get underway at 7:30 p.m. Friday night at Forest Stadium in Crossett.

He Loves Baseball But . . .

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—

(NEA)—From his glass-enclosed office peering down the left field line of Dodger Stadium, Dick Walsh has one of the best views for the World Series.

A fat lot of good it does him. Dick's lucky if he makes the opening pitch.

"You can't sit on your rear and see a ball game," he said earnestly. "If you see more than three innings, you're not doing your job."

Of course, Dick's job is a little different than most in the Dodger organization.

Buzzy Bavasi gets the players. Walter Alston directs them. Walter O'Malley runs to the bank. But without Dick Walsh, who rates slightly below Mrs. Calabash as a public figure, the Los Angeles Dodgers would have a chaotic setting for their operation.

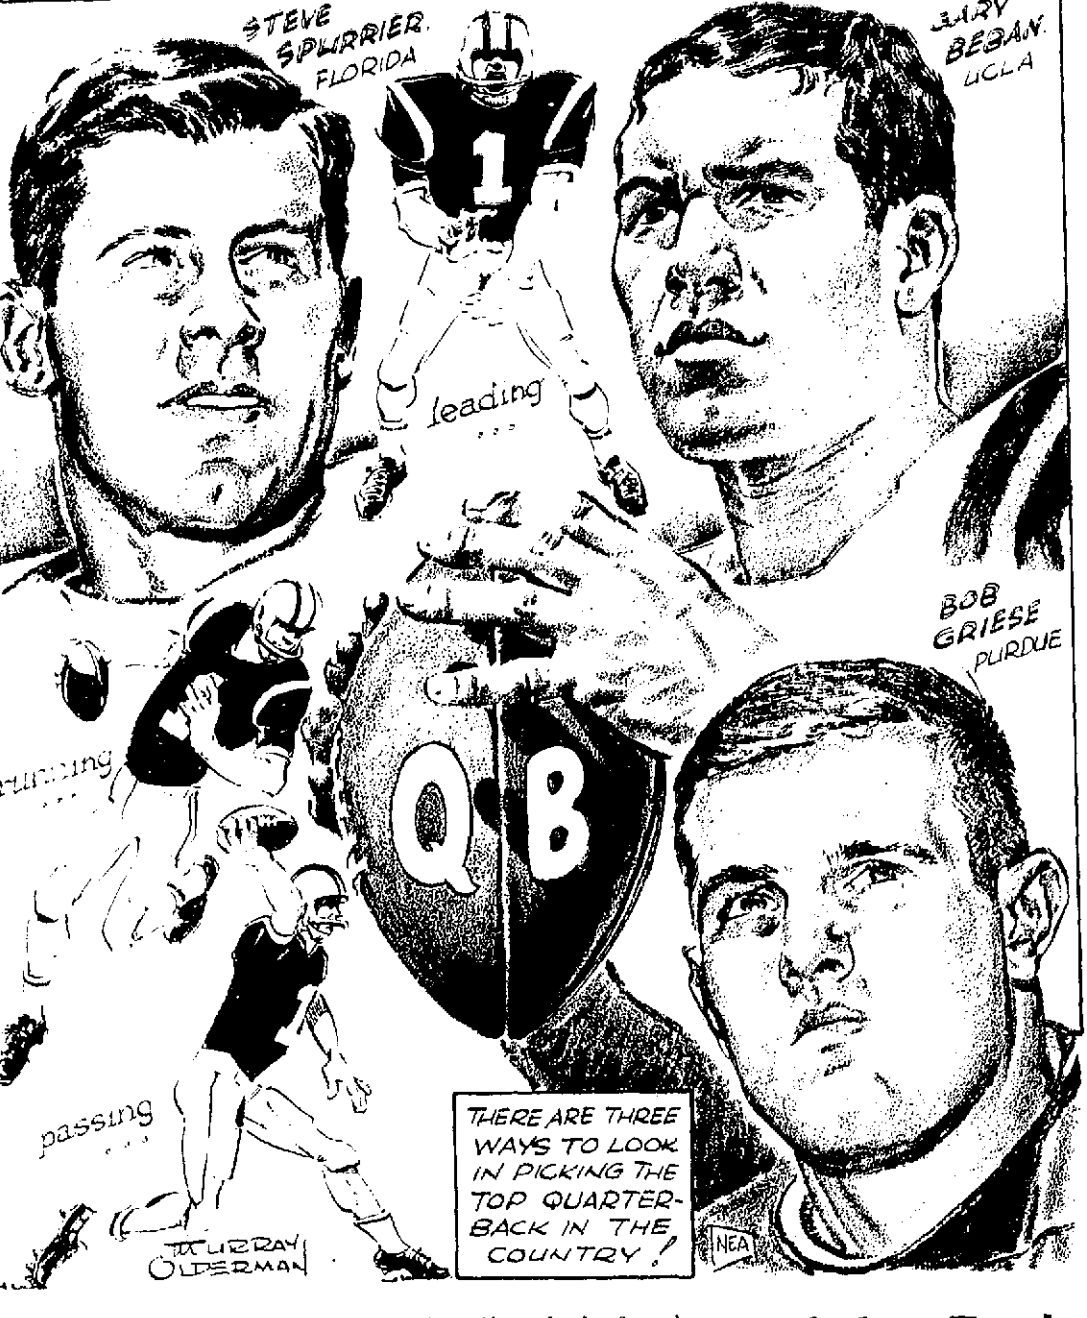

Dick is vice president of the club. The Dodgers breed vice presidents like hormone injections. Bavasi is vice president and general manager. Fresco Thompson is general manager and director of minor league operations. Red Patterson is vice president and director of public relations and promotions. Walsh is the vice proxy in charge of stadium operations.

That means a turnstile doesn't click until Dick gives the word. He has a work force of 700 people fanning out all over the stadium serving the people who serve O'Malley—don't ends by paying to get in.

"During a game," said Walsh, "I walk and I carry a radio. We run the park with walkie-talkies. In the hands of 22 different supervisors."

So when milky in the third base mezzanine has her dress spotted by a leaky pipe, and that's happened. Walsh hears about it.

DECK WALSH is the man to see if anyone in the throngs that gather at Dodger Stadium for the World Series has any problems.

At a time like this, when the stadium's hopping with World Series excitement, Walsh finds himself waking up in the middle of the night, writing notes to himself on a bedside table and then fighting insomnia. It's not exactly the type of baseball tension Dick envisioned for himself 20 years ago when he walked out of a sailor's uniform and into a Dodger tryout camp. He was two weeks off the boat and still had his sea legs.

"You can't run well enough any more, kid," said Dick Mathews, then an assistant to Branch Rickey, who ran the Dodger organization.

"But I told him I still wanted a job in baseball," said Walsh. "Any job. In July he called me. I got $200 a month as a green kid who did everything in the farm club at Fort Worth."

His climb took him to Danville, Ill., as business manager, then into the Dodger minor league department through 1956. Then O'Malley set him up as president of the newly acquired Los Angeles Angels and Dick commuted from Brooklyn to the West Coast, where he was raised. His undercover role was liaison between Sir Walter and the LA politicians who were moving heaven and earth to get the Dodgers westward.

In 1958, the Dodgers went west. In August, 1960, Walsh became vice president, supervising their operation in the Coliseum, and when the club moved into its new home two years later, he was the boss of the concrete and steel tiered jungle carved in Elysian Park, just up the road from Sunset Boulevard.

He has a projected annual budget of $500,000 just for labor, and it costs a million and a quarter annually to keep the stadium going. He has such assorted responsibilities, too, as rounding up 15 unclaimed juveniles after a Beatles' concert in the park. And once, past midnight after a game, he found an unattached five-year-old asleep in a station wagon. The parents, who had seven other kids, had gone home in another car. Dick gave the kid the classic treatment—a lollipop—until they returned.

Getting ready for the Series took command decision. Before the Dodgers clinched the National League flag, he had to O.K. an expenditure to flame-proof the bunting that decorates the deck facades. It's a city ordinance.

"The last time I saw a full game," he sighed, "was last year—when we played in Minnesota."

And then he walked around the park the whole nine innings—to see how they did things over in the American League.

Drabowsky Is Hero of Series

By MURRAY CHASS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Moe Drabowsky remembers how, when he was 3 years old, he sat next to a stream in the backyard of the family farm in Ozanna, Poland, catching fish with his bare hands.

The Los Angeles Dodgers remember how, many years later, Drabowsky stood out with his rejuvenated right arm.

Drabowsky struck out 11 all told Wednesday as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Dodgers 5-2 in the first game of the World Series.

The 11 strikeouts broke a series record and the six straight he recorded in the fourth and fifth innings tied one.

And the 31-year-old Drabowsky accomplished all that while limiting the favored Dodgers to one hit in 6 2/3 innings of relief and becoming the hero in the opening game.

Playing in a World Series, though, is a great distance from playing in a backyard in south-west Poland. Drabowsky was born in Ozanna in 1935 and left there three years later.

"I have some visions of my years there," he said between explaining how he stymied the Dodgers.

"I can remember the stream running through the backyard. I'd sit there and try to catch fish with my bare hands."

"When we first came over in 1938, I had a problem in school. My father couldn't speak English and my mother spoke only broken English. I couldn't speak English either and when I started school, I got bad grades."

"But with the advent of television, my father started picking up some English, and I started doing okay too."

"It's about time I got on the right side of a record," Drabowsky laughed. He referred to the fact that he gave Stan Musial's 3,000th hit, allowed the winning hit in Early Wynn's 300th victory and once hit four batters in one game.

When he isn't running into negative records, or positive ones, or just pitching routinely, Drabowsky is a stock broker. He works in the off-season for a firm in Chicago.

Fayetteville Annexation

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Fayetteville board of directors has voted to place an annexation proposal which would double the city's area on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

The proposed areas would add about 2,000 persons and 11,092 acres, the city planning commission said.

Either was first used in surgery in 1846.

THREE-CORNER CHOICE

By SANDY PADWE

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA)—Before the professional football leagues merged, Joe Thomas, the talent scout for the Miami Dolphins, figured it would cost some team—hopefully his—one million dollars for the use of Steve Spurrier's right arm.

Joe Thomas is not John Maynard Keynes, but his economic forecast was sound enough. Joe Namath had received $400,000 in 1965 and Donny Anderson $700,000 in 1966. The next leap forward had to be a million.

The pro owners realized it, too. Thus the merger, and a drop in Spurrier's over-the-counter value.

Spurrier, however, will not start life as a pauper when he leaves the University of Florida next spring. Nor will Bob Griese when he leaves Purdue.

And two years from now, UCLA's Gary Beban could boost prices right back to the prefootball war level.

Spurrier, Griese and Beban are the three most publicized quarterbacks in the country. For a change, the publicity is warranted.

"Our scouts," said Russ Thomas, director of player personnel for the Detroit Lions, "have a point system for rating players. Spurrier and Griese come out equal."

"It's hard to rate Beban because he's only a junior. However, as a sophomore, he's rated favorably, if not better than Spurrier and Griese. He's not as sharp a passer yet, but he has a strong arm and should develop even more with experience."

Another scout (from the American League) has a different view: "Beban is and will be a fine college quarterback. He will lead his team to a lot of victories. But I don't think he's a good enough passer to be a pro."

It is a minority opinion.

While Beban is developing, Griese and Spurrier will be polishing their talents this season.

"They both have quick arms," said George Sauer, the New York Jets' talent scout. "Both can pass well, whether it's long or short. They both pick up their secondary receivers well and they can change plays quickly."

Spurrier is extremely capable at adjusting. In Florida's opening game against Northwestern, he faced 15 different defenses and changed 65 per cent of his plays at the line of scrimmage. It didn't hinder Steve's performance. He completed 15 of 22 passes for 219 yards and three touchdowns, kicked two field goals and averaged 43.5 yards on punts.

Griese (and now you can understand why everyone measures them so evenly) completed 17 of 21 passes for three touchdowns in Purdue's opener against Ohio University.

"Spurrier," said Don Klossman of the Houston Oilers, "is extremely accurate between 25 and 35 yards, the distance most pro quarterbacks need to be good."

Said Joe Thomas: "Spurrier has everything you want in a quarterback: size, poise and confidence. If everything goes right, he should be one or two in the draft."

Griese's backers won't be outdone.

"He can come pretty close to writing his own ticket with the pros if he shows just normal improvement as a senior," a NFL scout said. "Bob figures to make an ideal pro because he's got good size and speed, plus being able to kick the ball about as well as he throws it. I'd like to be his age again with his ability."

Even if the merger has reduced his bargaining powers.

Rich Texans Set Ambush for Tower

By GARTH JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—With the prestige of President Johnson and Gov. John B. Connally at stake, Texas Democrats are setting a multimillion-dollar ambush for the state's lone Republican in Congress, U.S. Sen. John G. Tower.

And with just as much effort, and money, Republicans are trying to make Tower's campaign for a second term into a vehicle for regaining ground they lost in the 1964 election.

The situation is complicated by the fact that both Tower and his Democratic opponent, Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, are conservatives. Carr faces the very real possibility of a boycott of the polls by liberal Democrats

Yerger Plays Baton Rouge Here Friday

By JOSEPH WITHERSPOON

and JAMES HAMILTON

The Yerger High Tigers will meet the Senic High School Tigers of Baton Rouge, Louisiana here Friday, October 7 at Hammons Stadium. Game time is 7:30.

After being defeated by Hot Springs last week, the Tigers will be trying to bounce back this week with victory over Louisiana. In previous games the Tigers have held their opponents close in the first half, but in the second half they seem to pull away. This week the Tigers are determined to get the lead and keep it throughout the game. The Yerger Tigers will have the advantage of playing on their home field Friday night and hope to make it a thrilling victory.

Players to watch in the Tigers' offensive attack are, Quarterback Johnny Smith who is always a threat to throw the long bomb to ends, Milton Witherspoon and Ernest Standokes, and the Tiger breakaway runners, half-backs James Monk and Robert Prater, and the Tigers' great defense lead by Captains, Harold Lloyd and Earl Muldrew.

If the stands are filled with all you Tiger fans the Tigers will put on a great show this Friday night.

Broyles Says Porks Have to Be Ready

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Because Baylor is playing its first Southwest Conference game of the season here Saturday, the Arkansas Razorbacks will "have to be as ready as if it were our first conference game," Coach Frank Broyles said Wednesday.

Broyles said after Wednesday's practice that he hoped Arkansas will be as ready as Baylor is going to be.

"The first conference game is the important one and they'll be ready for us."

The fifth-ranked Porkers, only unbeaten team in the SWC, opened defense of their league title last Saturday night with a 21-0 victory over Texas Christian University.

All-America Loyd Phillips, Richard Trail and Mike Jordan, all of whom missed Tuesday's practice, were on hand for Wednesday's practice.

who have been feuding with the party's dominant conservative faction for a decade.

Tower, 41, a former college professor, and Carr, 46, have accused each other of spending around $2 million in an attempt to buy the election.

The campaign is a definite crisis for Texas Republicans. Two years ago, when native son Lyndon B. Johnson trounced Barry Goldwater, he swept most Texas Democratic candidates into office with him. Two Republican congressmen were down in defeat. What had been a growing group of GOP state legislators shrank from 11 to representative in the 15th member House.

Connally, who teams with Johnson on Texas campaign maneuvers, said recently re-election of Tower would be political slap in the face for the President and the governor. It would help the Republican and it would give strength liberal Democrats, he said.

Most observers agree that Tower, from his favorable position as the incumbent, got off a better campaign start.

However, Democrats claim Carr's chances have increased daily since he got unqualified backing of Johnson and Connally, the undisputed top political powers in a state that has been predominantly Democratic since the Civil War.

Carr also claims full support of the 23 Democratic members of Congress and of former Gov. Allan Shivers and Price Daniel Shivers, who led state party machinery to support Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower president in 1952 and 1956, aided some statewide GOP candidates in the past.

Tower has full backing of party leaders, both state and national, plus considerable support from well-heeled business groups who believe the Democratic party has grown too liberal.

Americans Highly Regard Religion

By GEORGE W. CORNELL

NEW YORK (AP) — Ninety-two per cent of Americans regard religion as important, with 70 per cent of the group considering it "very important" and 22 per cent thinking it "fairly important," a national sampling indicates.

The survey, taken for the Catholic Digest magazine by the Gallup public opinion research organization, also turned up these other findings:

Concern for religion is greatest in medium-sized cities, of 25,000 to 100,000 population, where 81 per cent of the people consider it "very important."

In large metropolitan cities, of more than a million population, only 65 per cent rate religion "very important." The figure ranges upward as the city size declines.

About 78 per cent of those over 65 canvassed consider religion very important. Only 57 per cent of the 18-24 age group consider religion of prime importance.

More dark-skinned people, 80 per cent, rate religion very important than do whites, 69 per cent. More women, 80 per cent, also do so than men, 63 per cent.

In the poll, a cross-section of American adults was asked: "How important would you say religion is in your own life — very important, fairly important, or not very important?"

The findings indicated the percentage of the general population considering religion "very important," 70 per cent, was down 5 per cent from what it was in 1952.

However, the number considering religion "fairly important," was up slightly from 20 per cent 14 years ago, to 22 per cent now.

A group of local citizens met last night at the Chamber of Commerce office to plan for the upcoming United Fund drive. Ray Lawrence, president of the organization, appointed some committees to see some of the larger employers within the city and county and report back by next Tuesday their success in setting up payroll deduction programs among these large employers.

The Drive will kick off on Tuesday morning at 6:30 with a breakfast and the plan is to get all of the soliciting done within a 30-day period. It was pointed out by several at the meeting last night that all of the state and national advertising now being seen and heard would be of a tremendous value to our campaigning.

AREA Fighting Consolidations

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Rural Education Association will start a full-scale campaign against a proposed school consolidation act, including the use of television, after Oct. 1, the AREA president said Wednesday.

Hershel Lee of Greenbrier said the campaign would begin after a meeting of the Arkansas Education Association's Council on Education Oct. 1. The council is expected to take an official position on the proposal, which will be on the Nov. 8 general election ballot.

The AREA group and leaders of the AEA have fought for weeks over consolidation and other school matters.

There's Always Another Hill for Marines

By PETER ARNETT

NEAR THE DMZ, Viet Nam (AP) — For the weary U.S. Marine battalions inching their way across the roof of South Viet Nam, the next hill is always higher than the last, and there is always another hill.

There is a bitter irony about the fighting that has developed in these remote, misty mountains on the border of South Viet Nam and the Communist North.

The hill the Marines fought for and captured one day may be back in enemy hands the next. The Marines keep pushing on to the hill ahead.

When the Marines move off a peak, North Vietnamese troops crawl back on. This military musical chairs could continue forever unless the Marines hold all the hills they fight for.

But there are nearly as many hills up here as there are Marines in Viet Nam.

The Marines took to the hills in an extension of earlier strategy that envisaged the annihilation of the enemy in the fertile valleys running up from the South China Sea. North Vietnamese troops were moving down into these valleys from across the Demilitarized Zone.

High ground fascinates Marine strategists. They saw it looming above the valleys and stretching in increasingly higher tiers across to Laos, and into North Viet Nam.

With the enemy thrown from the valleys, the Marines took to the high ground. It has been a long, tough grind ever since.

The 3rd Battalion, 4th Regiment attacked one ridge line two weeks ago. The first hill, a "mere bump in the ground," according to Capt. J. J. Carroll of Miami Beach, Fla., proved a formidable obstacle of well-manned bunkers and spurring enemy machine guns.

Big Enemy Force Has Surrendered

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A unit of 66 Viet Cong soldiers surrendered en masse today as American, Korean and South Vietnamese forces closed in on an encircled, fragmented Communist force on the central coast.

The wholesale surrender raised to about 300 the number of prisoners taken by the combined allied force in five days of operation. It was probably the war's biggest bag of prisoners, and in addition the allied forces claimed nearly 550 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed in the pincer operation north of Qui Nhon.

To the north just below the demilitarized zone, U.S. Marines braved a hail of Communist grenades and waded in ankle-deep mud Wednesday to capture the last hill along a four-mile ridge they had been clearing of North Vietnamese for 15 days.

Marine casualties were described as light, but three 90mm tank shells fired in support of the Leathernecks fell short, killing three Marines and wounding seven others in the base camp for the operation.

The Marine operations below the demilitarized zone for the second time in two weeks pushed American combat casualties last week above those of South Vietnamese forces although American losses were less than the week before.

The U.S. command said 99 Americans were killed and 642 wounded during the week that ended last Saturday, compared with 87 killed and 268 wounded reported by the South Vietnamese. Other allied forces reported 16 men killed and 48 wounded, nearly double the toll the week before.

Enemy losses reported were also down, 1,104 killed last week compared with 1,208 the previous week.

The casualties last week brought the total number of Americans reported killed in the war to 5,401 and the wounded to 20,014. Totals reported for the year include 3,523 Americans killed, 6,859 South Vietnamese killed and 40,149 enemy dead.

The coastal campaign, Operation Irving, has become one of the most successful drives of the war.

Adenauer Fails to Oust Erhard

BONN, Germany (AP) — Former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer failed Tuesday in another attempt to oust Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

Members of their Christian Democratic party in the Bundestag voted overwhelmingly for Erhard to continue as West Germany's leader.

Adenauer, who was succeeded by Erhard, came out publicly Sunday in favor of replacing Erhard with Eugen Gerstenmaier, the Bundestag president. The former chancellor has been a persistent critic of Erhard.

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

PARENTS, PILL SALES AND TEENS: The pill will have sold $100 million worth by the end of this year, should sell a $150 million worth in 1967. Overwhelmingly, young women are the users. How many teen girls use the birth control pill? No one knows for sure. But medical researchers believe a surprisingly large number. One from the million teen girls who are now married. Dr. Joseph D. Teacher of the University of Southern California says that today many parents first caution teen daughters about sex, then give them the pill. He worries about the enormous sexual permissiveness teenagers are exposed to, and reports that "teens often use sex as a weapon to get even with their parents... hurt them." His counsel is: establishing a healthy sexual identity and healthy independence from parents are two of the major hurdles of adolescence, and concludes that "failure to establish these and to have a goal in life account for the bulk of teen-age mental problems."

PREDICTION: MEN WILL WEAR CLOTHES THIS YEAR and girls will switch them. Trends that style makers are pushing now. The Army-Navy look—western and outdoor—and, of course, mod. Men: prepare for lots of epaulettes—on jackets and shirts, too. Get set for wild, bright, swinging shirts—those sport dots, paisleys, stripes, patterns—with outdoor patch-type pockets and high-roll, long-point collars. The nuttiest sweater is the new shaggy-rug type—with bright horizontal stripes, each fringed, so you look real hairy. On the less wild side are the military jackets—work gear, on-patrol bush jacket, and that favorite, the sailor pea coat, double-breasted and brass-buttoned. If you prefer more subdued clothes, don't worry, there'll be plenty of conventionally styled clothes in stores, too.

KISS DEPARTMENT: IS KISSING DANGEROUS? Luckily, no—at least, as far as laboratory tests indicate. In these, bacteriologists have determined that, although kissing can transfer bacteria, in 95 per cent of the cases they will be of a harmless kind. How was this fabulous fact found out? Strictly scientifically. Volunteers pressed their lips warmly against glass plates containing a goo that grows germs.

PITY THE STARVING TEEN GIRL! Boys are ahead of girls—in eating. No surprise, but U. S. Department of Agriculture findings are surprising, the way they show teen-age boys are doing better than girls in nutrition. Six out of every 10 girls now have poor diets... only four out of every 10 boys. For example, half of all girls (only 20 per cent of boys) get less than their daily needs in bone-building, teeth-building, blood-balancing calcium. Why? Because of skipping meals (particularly breakfast), haphazard family meal planning and timing, unwholesome snacks, faddy dieting, and snatching hurried meals. Today's teen-girl is "the poorest fed member of the family." The unfair thing is that 30 to 40 per cent of all girls (including many of the diet-poor) are overweight, too—twice as many as boys.

YAKS AND YURTS HEED ROCK 'N' ROLL: Mongolia, land of yaks (hairy cattle) and yurts (skin tents), wedged geographically and politically between China and Russia, recently turned up its red-tinted nose about U. S. offers to aid after disastrous floods. But the report now is that young Mongols are welcoming a new flood—of U. S. music favorites. Getting worn out by constant playing on Mongolia's few but much-used juke boxes by teen-agers are tunes like Petula Clark's "Downtown" and others by the Beatles, Rolling Stones, Frank Sinatra and Elvis.

UNUSUAL WINDOW TREATMENT—A handsome cotton decorator fabric creates a rich setting in this book-lined study. It's used with a lavish hand for floor-length side curtains, the window-framing lambrequin, and sheer lining. A warm, razing cotton in a paisley print covers the chair. But fabrics are varied and have stain-resistant finishes. By Waverly.

Liverwurst for Iron

By GAYNOR MADDOX, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My 17-year-old daughter refuses to eat liver even though I tell her she should because it will give her lots of the iron she needs. But she does like liverwurst. Does liverwurst have any iron in it?

A—Let her eat all the liverwurst or other liver sausages she likes. They carry at least 30 per cent of the iron and other nutrients in liver. Although lower in food value than liver alone, liver sausage provides significant amounts of the iron, protein and certain B vitamins.

Q—Why can't I buy Northern Spy apples in my market any more?

A—The Northern Spy is still produced in fairly large volume. This year there will be almost three million bushels, grown mostly in western New York state and in northern Michigan. But it won't reach the produce departments of your food store. Most will be processed into frozen sliced apples, destined for the institutional market—hotels and restaurants. Chances are good that when you dine out and order apple pie, it will be made with Northern Spy apples, or York Imperial, Newtown, Rhode Island Greening or Newtown Pippin. But there are fewer "Spys" grown, and fewer Baldwin's. They bear a crop only every other year and this imminent economic weakness, despite their flavor appeal, has doomed them to gradual extinction, reports The National Apple Institute.

THE DOCTOR SAYS
Bird Breeders Subject
To Severe Lung Allergies
By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

(Last of two related articles)
Few of us realize that our lungs bring about 30 pounds of oxygen into our bodies daily, more than the weight of all the food and water we consume. Unfortunately, they also bring us a variety of foreign matter, such as pollens, bacteria, molds, viruses and dusts.

Take the case, for example, of three men who bred pigeons for a hobby. They had a series of bouts of pneumonia but their doctor could not find any evidence of a specific infection.

After many tests it was shown that their disease, called pigeon-breeder's or bird-fancier's lung, was a severe allergic reaction to pigeon feathers. The same condition has been described in breeders of parakeets and is believed to be closely related to such other allergic lung diseases as farmer's lung, maple bark-stripper's disease and mushroom-picker's disease.

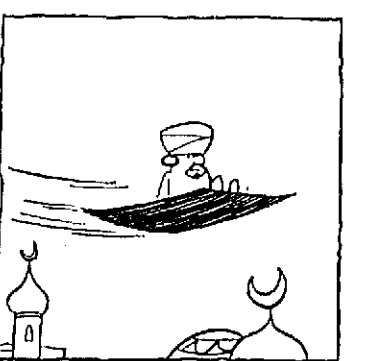

All these diseases, although forms of allergy, differ from asthma. The latter is due to inhaling pollens and affects the bronchial tubes, while the former may affect the tiny air sacs at the far end of the smallest bronchi.

Ornithosis (formerly called psittacosis or parrot fever) is a different matter. It is caused by a virus and, although it is most commonly transmitted by parrots and parakeets, it may also be transmitted by pigeons, canaries, ducks, chickens, turkeys and many other species. Although the virus usually makes the bird sick, immune birds may act as carriers of the organisms and if human beings inhale dust that is contaminated with their nasal secretions or droppings, those persons are likely to get the disease.

The usual incubation period is 7-14 days. Chills, fever, headache and generalized aching are followed by nose-bleeds and a dry cough. Often the diagnosis is not suspected until the victim remembers some other encounter with birds.

Ornithosis can be a serious disease but when it is recognized early in its course

Sliced Thin by The Editor
Alex. H. WashburnFree Choice Only for Those Who Foot the Bill

That an "agonizing reappraisal" of small rural school district is going on in the minds of school patrons is apparent in Nevada county where a proposed five-district consolidation went down to defeat in the annual school election—but only after three of the five districts voted approval, and the overall vote in the five also was affirmative.

However a single negative-voting district would have been sufficient to block the merger, and there were actually two that voted "No."

Even so, this represents a favorable trend toward consolidation among rural school patrons, for the same merger plan had been defeated by a bigger margin several years ago.

In its news analysis of the school election the Nevada County Picayune said:

"The matter of school consolidation does not quite end here, for the small schools of the county as the voters of the State of Arkansas will be voting on a school consolidation program in the November election and if it passes the small schools will be forced to consolidate in some manner."

The Picayune, like The Star and most newspapers, is discussing school consolidations in general, the action in any particular district being up to the patrons.

But the general school taxation picture is such that a lone rural district no longer has an actually free choice on the consolidation question. The state as a whole is moving into the picture — and for good reason: While the individual district insists on its right to complete autonomy the only reason it has been able to survive at all is that the state government is supplying the bulk of its revenue.

It is axiomatic that a free choice exists only for those who foot the bill.

School districts which accept federal funds have to obey orders issued from the distant federal capital.

Similarly, districts which find themselves supported almost entirely by the state government will eventually be confronted by orders issued by the state's voters and taxpayers — if not in the current state-wide consolidation measure to be voted on in November, then by some later bill in a later election.

Compatibility
Is No Sign

WASHINGTON (AP) — A government study of 200 young middle class couples suggests that compatibility — at least as defined by the couples themselves — is not necessarily a sign of a truly happy marriage. A government mental health researcher, Dr. Robert Ryder, said terms like "compatible," "harmonious," "comfortable," and "congenial" really may be synonyms for blandness or lack of excitement.

His comments came Wednesday in a report summarized for publication of the National Institutes of Health.

Says Kennedy
Will Not Run

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post today quoted Sen. Robert F. Kennedy as saying he would not run for President or vice president in 1968 under any foreseeable circumstances.

Kennedy "made it clear that he would not be interested in being President Johnson's running mate even if the President asked him to," the Post article said.

The New York Democrat had led Sept. 1 in an Associated Press interview that he would support Johnson and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for reelection in 1968.

Hurricane Slaps Cuba
Second Time

By BEN FUNK
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Glancing off Cuba, where she claimed three more victims, Hurricane Inez roared on across the Gulf of Mexico today toward a possible collision with the Yucatan Peninsula, ancient home of the Maya Indians.

Forecasters said Inez, in the 13th day of her tempestuous travels through the Western Hemisphere, might crawl along the north coast of the peninsula, hurling 110-mile-an-hour winds inland over the dense tropic jungles.

Or she might strike inland, through the ruins of a remarkable Mayan civilization built shortly after the death of Christ, to reach the important city of Merida, with its 170,000 residents.

With one last vicious blow at Cuba, Inez damaged the tobacco crop, source of Havana cigars. In her earlier sweep across the eastern part of the Communist island, she had laid waste to sugar fields.

On the northwest coast, as the storm passed Wednesday night, Havana Radio said two persons were electrocuted and another drowned, bringing the storm's announced death toll in Cuba to four. Hundreds were injured during her previous visit.

Inez is known to have killed more than 150 persons in the Caribbean and possibly many more in Haiti.

A ricochet blow at the Yucatan Peninsula might send Inez reeling on across the Gulf of Mexico toward the main body of Mexico.

The peninsula, which juts up into the Gulf of Mexico to split it off from the Caribbean, is owned partly by Mexico. The southeast corner is occupied by British Honduras and a part of Guatemala.

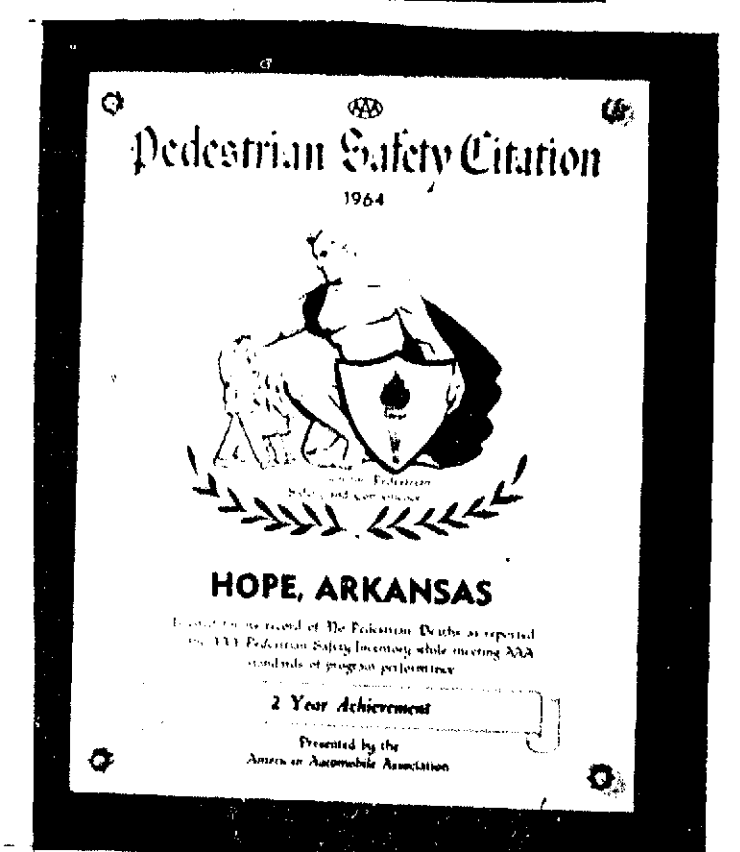

Early today, Inez was about 275 miles west-southwest of Key West, Fla., and 150 miles north-east of Yucatan.

Two persons were injured when a building collapsed in downtown Havana during a torrential rain Wednesday night. A barge was reported to have sunk in the harbor.

Water Bill of $430 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $430 million water projects bill which includes $9.36 million for flood control work on Bayou Bartholomew and tributaries in Arkansas won approval Wednesday from the House Public Works Committee.

The bill stipulated that another $360,000 would be available for the Bayou Bartholomew project from non-federal sources.

Jack Ruby
Wins a
New Trial

By LEE JONES

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Henry Wade says the state will seek the death penalty again for Jack Ruby, whose conviction for killing accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald was set aside Wednesday.

Defense counsel expressed confidence, however, that the former Dallas night club operator will go free within months if he is allowed to plead guilty to a charge of murder without malice.

Wade, in Dallas, was chief prosecutor in the trial ending there March 14, 1964, with a state court jury assessing Ruby, 55, a death sentence.

Wade said he intends to file a motion for rehearing by Oct. 20, asking the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals to change its mind and uphold Ruby's murder conviction.

The court, the highest in Texas for criminal matters, ruled that Ruby did not get a fair trial. It reversed the conviction and ordered a new trial, to be held outside Dallas County.

The main reason cited by the Austin court in its decision was that the trial court erred when it allowed testimony by Dallas Police Sgt. P. T. Dean about what Ruby said some 1 to 40 minutes after Oswald was shot in the Dallas police station basement.

French End A
Test Series

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
PARIS (AP) — France has ended its current series of atomic tests in the South Pacific with the explosion Tuesday of a fifth atomic device, the Defense Ministry says.

The plutonium-doped experimental device was set off over the testing grounds at Mururoa Lagoon near Tahiti. There was no immediate indication of the size of the blast.

It was the second test of an instrument containing plutonium during the current series, the Defense Ministry said. Addition of plutonium gives more power to an atomic blast, but France does not have sufficient quantities of enriched uranium to produce a thermonuclear or hydrogen bomb yet.

LAWTON, Okla. (AP) — The Rev. S. G. Stewart of Ozark, Ark., was elected moderator of the Oklahoma-Arkansas Synod of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., at the close of a three-day meeting here on Wednesday.

Commissioners to the Synod adopted a resolution urging peace in Viet Nam and calling for all parties to "press vigorously for a negotiated peace in Viet Nam in which both justice and honor may be found."

Georgia in Confusion Over
Candidates

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Atlanta Democrats — to fill the void left when U.S. Rep. Charles L. Weller withdrew from the congressional race rather than support an ardent segregationist for governor — are relying on self-described middle-of-the-road Archie L. Lindsey.

Lindsey, 55, a real estate agent was picked Wednesday by a party committee to face Republican opposition in the Nov. 8 general election.

Weller withdrew from the race Monday, saying his principles do not permit him to support Lester G. Maddox as the Democratic nominee for governor.

Lindsey will support Maddox. "I have been a Democrat all my life, have always supported the party ticket and will do so this time," he said.

He was picked at a closed meeting of the Fulton County (Atlanta) Democratic Executive Committee, which considered more than a dozen persons.

A veteran of city-county politics, Lindsey will resign from the county commission post he has held 14 years to take on State Sen. Fletcher Thompson, the GOP nominee who got on the ballot by petition.

Weller said in Washington he was pleased at the committee's choice and predicted Lindsey would win easily despite a late start in the race. "He's not an unknown like his Republican opponent," Weller said.

When he withdrew, Weller explained he could not break a party loyalty oath he signed to become a candidate and neither could he vote for Maddox, a segregationist.

Bombing Halt
Brings Call
to Limit War

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — A halt in U. S. bombing aimed at restoring a neutral zone between North and South Viet Nam brought senatorial proposals today for expanded international patrols to limit the war.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in New York Wednesday that air attacks on the eastern part of the buffer area had been suspended. The White House previously described this as an effort to permit the International Control Commission to investigate alleged violations of the area.

In Saigon, reliable sources reported U. S. and Vietnamese planes halted bombing of a 24-mile-square area of the demilitarized zone 10 days ago so commission teams could carry out inspections.

"We would like to see that zone fully demilitarized again," Rusk said. "If the North Vietnamese will stop using the zone for a purpose for which it was not intended."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield was joined by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in applauding this action. Both have opposed escalation of the war.

The two Democrats proposed in separate interviews that control commission patrols be beefed up and their operations expanded to cover South Viet Nam's borders with Cambodia and Laos.

"It is quite possible that if the International Control Commission were given sufficient personnel and its responsibilities strengthened that it could become effective toward limiting the war and opening the way to peace negotiations," Mansfield said.

Fulbright said he didn't want to raise any false hopes of what might be accomplished, but he favored expanding the patrols.

Canada, India and Poland are members of the international commission set up after the 1954 Geneva Conference to police the demilitarized area between North and South Viet Nam agreed upon at that meeting.

In Ottawa it was said that patrols carried out in the 35 mile long, 6 mile wide zone by two teams of two Canadian officers, two Indians and two Poles were resuming in the eastern segment.

These inspection journeys had been suspended this summer when the United States started bombing staging areas and ammunition dumps the North Vietnamese had set up in the zone to infiltrate troops into South Viet Nam.

The South Vietnamese government reportedly ordered a cessation of all bombing and military activity Sept. 27 in the area of the buffer zone east of Route 1, which is four miles west of the South China Sea.

North Viet Nam reportedly refused permission for control commission teams to inspect the Communist side of the zone.

Cites Need of
2-Party Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A national Republican Party official said Wednesday that the Arkansas GOP is on the threshold of giving the state what it must have, a two-party system.

Mrs. Fran Salmon of Tucson, Ariz., membership chairman of the National Federation of Republican Women, was here to present the NFRW national membership award to the Arkansas Federation of Republican Women.

She praised the Arkansas GOP, saying it had come up strong from defeat in 1964 and was ready for victory in November.

Annexation
at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Little Rock City Manager Board voted Wednesday to put a proposed annexation of 26.4 square miles on the Nov. 8 election ballot.

The annexation would add about 18,000 to the city's population.

$9.9 Million Grant
Sought for Millwood
Water Distribution

AP News Digest

Congressman Jim Trimble announced today that for sometime his office has been actively working on the Southwest Arkansas Water District application which is now pending before the Economic Development Administration in Washington. The Southwest Arkansas Water District is composed of Columbia, Hempstead, Lafayette, Little River and Miller counties.

Trimble pointed out that it was projects like this one that the Congress had in mind when they drafted the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965.

The application from the five county area calls for a loan and grant of 9.97 million dollars for the construction of a Water Distribution System from the Millwood Reservoir.

The system would not only provide water to the industries that are attracted to the area but it would furnish water to the cities and towns in the five county area.

The Nooka Edwards Paper Company of Port Edwards, Wisconsin has already issued 46 million dollars worth of bonds to construct a 600 ton paper mill at a site near Ashdown in Little River County. This one plant alone is expected to employ a minimum of 800 people when it goes into full operation. Trimble noted that various other paper companies have also shown an interest in locating in the area.

In closing, Trimble stated that this is one of the most worthwhile projects he had ever seen, and that he would push for an expeditious approval from the Economic Development Administration where the project is now under close study.

Lacks Business
Leadership

NEWPORT, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas lacks business leadership in government, Republican Winthrop Rockefeller told about 2,500 persons at a six-county rally for the Republican nominee for governor here Wednesday night.

Rockefeller criticized the state Highway Department and its administrators under Democratic governors.

"We want the highways and you want the kind of leadership that will get them for you," Rockefeller said, promising to provide such leadership.

Senators Are Split Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., voted with the majority Wednesday as the Senate passed 52-22 a $2.9 billion foreign aid appropriation.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., voted against the bill.

The two Arkansans voted with the majority when the Senate voted 47-27 to cut $48 million from a military assistance appropriation.

LBJ Expands
Trip to Asia
Conference

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson is expanding his trip to the Manila conference into a major Asian tour with visits to New Zealand, Australia, Thailand, Malaysia and South Korea, as well as the Philippines.

Johnson's plans were disclosed today by governments of several of the Asian nations. There was no immediate word from the White House, but the President scheduled an afternoon news conference that was expected to bring his confirmation of the announcements from abroad.

The news conference was set for 3 p.m. EDT.

The official visits to the five nations will be sandwiched around the Oct. 24-25 Manila meeting of chiefs of state of the seven countries with troops fighting Communists in South Viet Nam.

Johnson plans to visit New Zealand Oct. 19-20 and then fly to Australia, before attending the Manila meeting. New Zealand Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake announced in Wellington.

Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt said Johnson would visit his country Oct. 20-22.

Holyoake said Johnson had mapped an itinerary that "will bring him to New Zealand and then on to Australia, Thailand, Malaysia, and South Korea as well as to the Philippines conference on Viet Nam."

The Thai government's announcement said Johnson's visit to that country — which borders war-torn South Viet Nam — would come after the Manila conference, but a date was not given immediately.

In Seoul, President Chung Hee Park's secretary said Johnson would spend three days in South Korea, Oct. 31-Nov. 2.

The White House obviously was showing deference to desires of other Pacific nations to have the privilege of announcing visits from the American President.

Since the conference was announced 10 days ago, there has been broad speculation that as long as Johnson was so far out in the Pacific he would visit such other friendly nations as Australia, New Zealand and South Korea. And diplomatic officials have suggested there might be even more stops.

The White House obviously was showing deference to desires of other Pacific nations to have the privilege of announcing visits from the American president. Australian newspapers today were displaying stories that Canberra expected a Johnson call.

The additional stops on the swing into the Pacific are expected to be more in the nature of goodwill missions than business calls. The business will come at Manila, mainly.

Philippines President Ferdinand E. Marcos disclosed in a Honolulu speech Sept. 28 that he had invited the chiefs of state of the United States, Australia, New Zealand, South Korea, South Viet Nam and Thailand to meet with him in Manila to "review the prospects for a peaceful settlement of the conflict" in Viet Nam.

U. S. Loans to

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Wednesday a $2.4 million loan to Arkansas State Teachers College at Conway for construction of two dormitories and a cafeteria.

The federal agency also announced reservation of an $825,000 loan to Harding College at Searcy, Ark., to build a dormitory; and an $8,400 loan to plan for 42 low-rent homes at Alma, Ark.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The recording session was over and it was past dinner time in Jamaica, Ala. But Jim Nabors, his mother and a niece, Angela, both visiting from Sylacauga, headed for a restaurant and an Italian dinner.

There he was immediately spotted by several tourists who asked for autographs and took his picture and even asked if he would pose with them while the waiter took the picture.

He obliged everyone, with a sincere smile. Nabors is an obliging fellow, an average nice guy, good to his family, who is grateful for his success but not overly impressed with it.

His success is such that he will be heading his own special, Friends and Nabors, over CBS-TV on Oct. 12. While he has been a guest on several specials and last year shared a highly successful one with Andy Griffith and Don Knotts, this is the first time the Alabamian has headed his own variety show.

One of his guests is Marilyn Horne, the mezzo-soprano, and an old friend of Jim's. He has a tremendous knowledge of opera and many friends among operatic performers.

"We sing 'Libiamo' from La Traviata on the show," Jim said, "and after it's finished, Andy Griffith, another guest, says 'That's pretty. I don't know why Tony Bennett never recorded it.'"

Originally dismissed by some as "another hillbilly comic," Jim has proved himself a versatile performer with a secure niche in show business. His Gomer Pyle, U.S.M.C. series is in its third season. His Columbia Records album, "Jim Nabors Sings,"

Mrs. Nabors smiled. "If they hadn't, I would have thought they didn't like my cooking."

Gutters and downspouts need periodic cleaning and checking if they are to continue to perform their vital functions of providing drainage of rain water.

Often only the cleaning of leaves and debris is necessary. Now and then there may be damaged spots—rusted out areas to repair, clogged downspouts to open.

In the fall you may have to clean out gutters several times. Certainly they should be cleaned out before leaf-filled gutters jam up with ice during the winter months.

If gutters overflow, check for clogging. The opening through which water from the gutter flows into the downspout often becomes clogged with debris.

Strainers of mesh or plastic are available which will prevent dirt and leaves from flowing into the downspout and causing trouble there. These strainers, set in the

Guard against leaking or overflowing gutters by regular inspection and cleaning openings, will have to be cleaned periodically since leaves and twigs tend to pile up against them.

Clean Downspouts

If there is no sign of blockage but water spills over before it drains through the downspout, then the downspout may be clogged. Try tapping lightly along its side with a stick until the dirt falls through.

If this doesn't work try dropping a weight on a rope, use a plumber's snake or force through a stream of water from the garden hose.

Sometimes overflowing occurs because the pitch of the gutter is not right and the water does not flow toward the downspout. This is particularly true in the spring after accumulations of ice and snow may have weakened the gutter. Hangers may have to be tightened, re-nailed; or perhaps additional ones installed. Check by pouring water in the suspected area.

If water pours through the gutter rather than over its edge, then you have a repair job on your hands.

Rust should be scraped off every time you inspect the gutters, for this is what eats away at the material and opens up holes. Outside surfaces should be painted. Inside surfaces should be coated with a roof coating.

Prime the Surface

If you find a tiny crack, sand and clean thoroughly and prime the bare surface with a rust preventive paint. When that is dry, coat generously with roof coating.

Larger holes need patching. Over the primed metal spread a coat of asphalt. Press a patch into place while the asphalt is still wet and then coat with more liquid asphalt. Make certain that you cover the edges of the patch.

For a patch use a piece of roofing, heavy aluminum foil (if the gutters are aluminum) or canvas. Pieces of metal can be used if they are the same material as the gutter. If different metals are placed together there will be a chemical reaction that will eat away at one or both metals.

Keeping gutters free of dirt and debris will go a long way in keeping them from wearing out. Covering the gutter with wire mesh guards is sometimes done where leaves are heavy. It's a debatable practice since dirt still seeps through and there is the added work of removing the guards to clean the gutters. Leaves also accumulate on top.

Japan Works to Shake 'Shoddy Goods' Label

Kenkichi Ito's smile was similar to that of a gracious hostess stuck with the party bore. Ito, director of the sewing machine division of the Japan Light Machinery Information Center, had just been asked a question painful to him and to Japanese manufacturers.

"What about all this talk about shoddy merchandise being shipped to the United States?"

"We admit," Ito explained recently, "that such a charge was true but this was before 1956."

He pointed out that, as a result of the bad reputation Japanese products were getting around the world, the government stepped in 10 years ago to change the situation.

All appliances being shipped from Japan now must pass government inspectors before they receive a Japanese industrial seal. Those without the "JL" seal cannot be exported.

In addition to checking equipment for materials used and for the workmanship, though, the government "insists authorized dealers must stock adequate parts, even for machines 15 and 25 years old."

This requirement is especially important in the case of Japanese sewing machines, Ito explains. Since Japan produces more than half the sewing machines in the world (62 per cent of sewing machines bought in the United States in 1965 were made in Japan), the importance of quality control is apparent.

However, there are two variables which the government finds difficult to control. Ito admits that many Japanese manufacturers turn out second-rate promotional items in their plants in Korea, Formosa or India. "These products," he stresses, "do not bear the label of being passed in Japan. They will bear the country of origin label."

Another problem is controlling the retailer. "It is difficult to refuse to supply a product because a retailer is unethical in his sales or won't back up his guarantees." To protect herself, the consumer needs to know what she is buying—the type of sewing machine she needs for the work she wants to do. He recommends she shop the stores, checking machines and their performance, and then buy from a reputable store with the best price on the particular model she wants.

Through complaints to the Japan Light Machinery Information Center, which oversees the marketing of sewing machines, consumer electronics, cameras, binoculars, watches, clocks and other items, a consumer can help keep shoddy appliances from being sold. The Japanese government does try to pressure manufacturers to control its outlets.

The government currently is working to straighten out the mess of the "transistor radio rat race."

"We feel," Ito says, "the Americans started the race and firms had poor quality units made in Japan to their specifications. The government no longer allows manufacturers to put in dummy transistors or inadequate transistors."

Festival Casserole Features Scallops

Inspired by the Scallop Festival held each August in New Bedford, Massachusetts, is this Scallop Casserole developed by the makers of Mazola corn oil.

Scallop Vegetable Casserole

1/2 cup Mazola corn oil 1 (10-ounce) package frozen lima beans or 1 1/2 cups fresh shelled lima beans
2 tablespoons water 1 cup sliced celery
1/2 teaspoon salt 2 tomatoes, peeled and cut into eighths
1/2 teaspoon pepper 1 pound (1 pint) fresh or frozen sea scallops
1/2 teaspoon dried tarragon or few sprigs snipped 1/2 cup fresh corn or 1 1/2 cups fresh corn, cut from cob

Measure corn oil, water, salt, pepper and tarragon into 10-inch skillet with tight fitting cover. Add blocks of frozen vegetables or fresh vegetables and celery. Cover. Cook over medium to low heat just until vegetables are tender, about 10 to 12 minutes for frozen vegetables and 10 to 15 minutes for fresh vegetables. If using frozen vegetables, turn blocks frequently at first and separate vegetables with fork, then shake covered pan several times to prevent sticking. Add tomatoes and scallops. Cover and cook until scallops are tender, about 5 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Spur Interest In Breakfast

If getting the children to eat an adequate breakfast is a problem, capture their interest with some little extra, nutritionists tell us. It may be something as simple as putting bananas and blueberries atop their shredded wheat cereal or spooning a gob of strawberry jam on a bowl of hot cereal. Most persons respond to special treats and children are no exception.

For gala occasions, bake Marmalade Cereal Slices. These are pieces of crusty Italian bread on which a tangy, crisp marmalade-cereal mixture is spread. Five minutes of baking heats and bubbles the topping into a confection.

Be wise and start now during September Better Breakfast Month to instill the habit in your children of beginning each day with an adequate morning meal based on a basic pattern of fruit, cereal, milk bread and butter. It gives you quick and lasting energy in the late morning. Scientific research found, too, that you are quicker in your mental and physical actions with this morning meal.

Marmalade Cereal Slices

1/2 cup soft butter or margarine 2 cups corn or whole wheat flakes, crushed to make 1 cup
1/2 cup orange marmalade 8 slices Italian or Vienna bread, 1/4 inch thick

Be A Fall Hero: Serve Hot Crabmeat Sandwich and Sake Punch

Menu-planning is easier during cool weather, but a new culinary dilemma arises—what to make for snacks? Fall is really snack-time what with informal get-togethers, after-game parties and the generally heightened appetites brisk weather stimulates.

A luscious sandwich idea, perfect for any occasion, is Hot Japanese Crabmeat Hero. A marvelous warm-uppper, this hero will make you one. The secret of this snack's success are the tender pink-white chunks of Japanese king crabmeat which have such a "just caught" fresh flavor.

Hot Japanese Crabmeat Hero

1/2 cup Japanese King Crabmeat 1 small loaf French or Italian Bread
2 tablespoons butter 4 strips of sharp American processed cheese
1 cup minced celery
1 teaspoon chopped onion
1 cup stewed tomatoes (303 can drained)

Gently remove cartilage from can of Japanese king crabmeat, reserving large chunks whole. Flake remaining pieces of king crabmeat. Heat butter, add celery and onions, saute three minutes. Add tomatoes and the flaked king crabmeat. Season to taste. Cut top from bread, scoop out center. Fill with Japanese king crabmeat mixture, top with king crabmeat chunks. Cover with thin strips of cheese. Bake at 350° F. for about 14 minutes, until cheese is melted. Cut loaf vertically. Serves 4.

To warm the spirits even further serve this Hot Mulled Sake punch. In Japan, where Sake has been the national drink for twelve centuries, this delicious rice and water brew is traditionally served heated to 100° F.

Hot Mulled Sake

1/2 cup Japanese Sake 3 cinnamon sticks
1 bottle of Rum 8 whole cloves
Peels of 3 oranges and 1/2 teaspoon Allspice
3 lemons 1 cup granulated sugar
1 crushed nutmeg (not grated) 2 quarts water

Combine all the ingredients except the Japanese Sake and Rum. Boil ten minutes, then strain through fine sieve or cheesecloth. Add the Sake and Rum, which have been heated almost to the boiling point. Stir well. Serve piping hot in pre-heated mugs with handles. Serves 20.

Fact Action Everywhere in Viet Nam

By JOHN NANCE AND HORST FAAS
ABOARD TWO JIMA OFF VIET NAM (AP) — Action seemed to spring up with the dawn, everywhere at once. Landing craft filled with fighting men spun from two large ships, maneuvered into assault lines and churned white streaks in the sea toward the beach. Helicopters with more troops swirled up from flight decks, closed into formations and darted inland. The men, and the tanks and artillery that would follow, were the special landing force of the U.S. Navy's 7th Fleet Amphibious Ready Group—a fast-moving assault force. It was hitting just three miles south of the demilitarized zone. The mission was to find and destroy a regiment of the North Vietnamese army's 342B Division that had infiltrated into South Viet Nam through the neutral zone. The operation was called Deckhouse Four, the latest in more than 20 assaults into Viet Nam by the Amphibious Ready

Group since March 1965. The group's punch is simultaneous sea and air assault. While one Marine element hits the beach, another Marine force is landed to put the enemy in a squeeze. The full force of men, artillery and warships can strike anywhere along the Vietnamese coast within 48 hours. The group can sail 500 miles a day — all ships can make at least 20 knots. Nearly 2,000 Marines of the 1st Battalion, 26th Regiment, 5th Division, are aboard the three key vessels the carrier Iwo Jima, the transport Vancouver, and the Thomaston, a dock landing ship. Rocket ships capable of blasting out hundreds of 5-inch rockets every minute join the booming 5- and 8-inch guns of destroyers and a cruiser to plaster enemy positions. Air support wings in from the nearest land bases or from carriers at sea. Navy Capt. William J. Maddocks of Arlington, Va., has the final word on all operations until the Marines establish a command group inland. Operations then come under Marine Col. H. D. Wortman of Alexandria, Va., commander of the special landing force. Maddocks and Wortman work together and have headquarters on the Iwo Jima. This flagship, specially designed for carrying troops and 26 helicopters, is the nerve center of the amphibious ready group. Although each operation is tailored for particular ends, Operation Deckhouse Four illustrates the basic concepts. It incorporates maneuvers by sea, air, land and even under water. Submarines of the 7th Fleet, aided by aerial and other sea-borne reconnaissance teams, sought the best landing beach. Shoveling 15 inches of snow from a sidewalk 50 feet long by five feet wide takes as much energy as lifting 1,950 pounds.

EXERCISE AND DIET

By NED MOORE

TOKYO (AP) — Yoko Kozakura is 47 years old, but she looks like a girl. The mother of two grown children with not a trace of gray streaking her black hair, she ascribes her youthful good looks and shapely figure to two things: Calisthenics and diet. A great many Japanese housewives would like to look like Miss Kozakura. They watch her and her physical culturists on TV and buy their books. With Western dress replacing the traditional kimono throughout the country, they have become more conscious. Many Japanese men once took advantage of women to hide their figures. The book Miss Kozakura wrote on physical fitness methods has developed over the past years, "Itsumademo" ("Forever"), has already sold over 1,000 copies in Japan. Soon an English version, entitled "The Art of Beauty," will be published. She hopes that U.S. men will take to her techniques.

Miss Kozakura has 500 students in three Tokyo gyms, one located in the garden of her home. "A full course of my 26 beauty exercises lasts about an hour and a half," she says "and once I practice it three times a week and continue it for at least three months before seeing any results. Patience gives way to weariness in many cases, which I realize," she goes on. "If the woman doesn't, she will never fall to improve her physical condition, both internal and external." As for diet, she advocates plenty of water, lemon and oranges, a minimum of meat and very little fat or sugar. She tends that salt is bad for the health.

Don't look down on rice, the primary starch source for the Japanese, she says. Starch helps many animal proteins and fats. Juvenile delinquency can be reduced by giving youths more vegetables, she says, because meat eating makes man more aggressive.

Born in Tokyo, Miss Kozakura became a movie actress at the age of 6. At 17 she ended her career to marry Ken Uehara, an actor. Now their son Yuzo Kayama is a popular actor among teenagers.

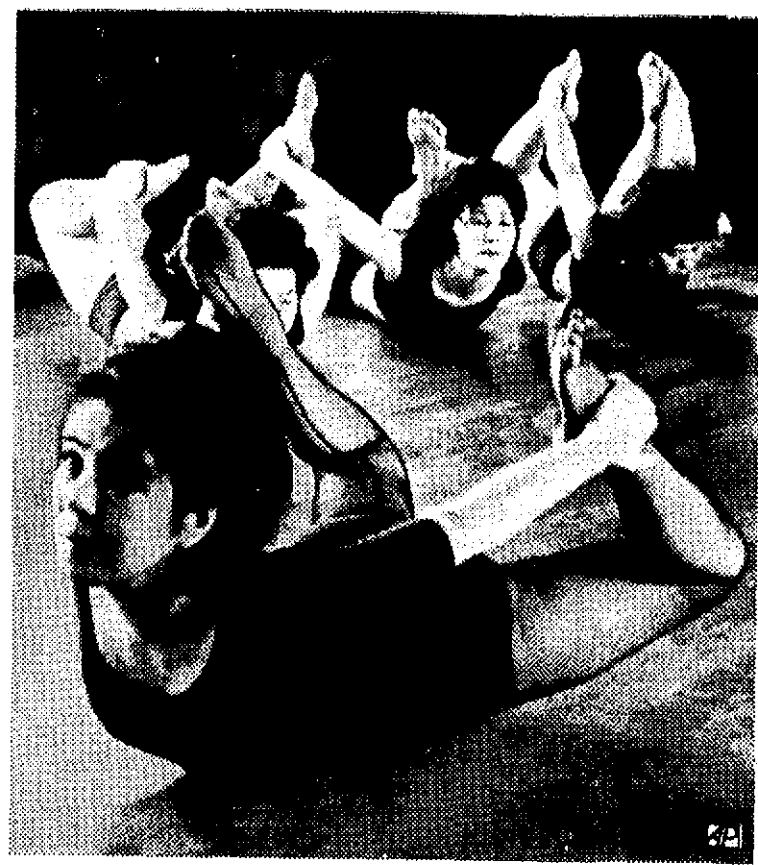

"It was my husband, not me, who first began health exercises 20 years ago," she recalls. "Then a top star, he had to preserve his physical fitness. He found that he was the only male student at the gym. He was such a shy person that he asked me to accompany him to the gym, and I did."

Light and Airy Gloves
Viva Italia!—and the alluring hand. Light and airy are the Italian hand-crocheted gloves. The perfect light touch for summer. Worn smartly with any costume in basic fashion colors.

KOZAKURA . . . Often called "Japan's Liz Taylor," she is 47 and country's leading beauty consultant. She's shown with young feline friend, women to have soft and lovely skin, she states. Rice is included in her two dietary meals a day.

She writes in her book that American women have wrinkles from youth because they eat too

YOUTHFUL-LOOKING TEACHER . . . Yoko Kozakura joins group of her students practicing exercises in main gymnasium at Chigasaku City.
